

Communications Committee 5 November 2009

Media and campaigns update

Executive summary and recommendations

Introduction

This paper provides an update on the key media and campaigns activities undertaken since the last Communications Committee in May 2009.

Decision

This paper is for information only. No decision is required.

Background information

Since May 2009, the Press and Public Relations Manager has issued press releases on the following:

- Is patient safety and quality an election priority?
- HPC launch consultation on statutory regulation of dance movement therapists
- HPC launches consultation on the recommendations for the statutory regulation of psychotherapists and counsellors
- Practitioner psychologists to be independently and statutorily regulated for the first time
- New Council and Chair for the Health Professions Council appointed
- HPC launch online Continuing Professional Development (CPD) presentation

The Press and Public Relations Manager has also issued various news items including the legislative approval to regulate practitioner psychologists, consultations and the opening of the register to practitioner psychologists as well as registration renewals. She also continues to write general HPC update articles for the website and a range of professional journals including a regular feature in the bi-monthly publication Complete Nutrition and articles regarding registration renewals.

The Communications Officer continues to issue weekly media alerts highlighting forthcoming Fitness to Practise Hearings to the media and has issued 31 press releases on professionals who have been struck off or suspended between May and September 2009.

Press coverage for the HPC has continued to increase significantly over the last year with more journalists and newswire agencies attending fitness to practise hearings and contacting us with a range of queries. Professional body coverage has also increased. Coverage continues to be monitored on a daily basis and the attached reports detail the coverage that has been received each month from May to the end of September 2009. All press releases can be viewed on the HPC website in the media and events section.

The Press and Public Relations Manager also supports the communications work for organisational activities, particularly implementing a media campaign to announce the opening of the Register for practitioner psychologists, media work for psychotherapists and counsellors and the development of articles on CPD and registration renewals for the professional press. This work is explained in more detail in the paper entitled "Communications for organisation-wide activities and projects".

In October, we distributed approximately 200,000 public information leaflets to 6,000 waiting rooms in GP surgeries as well as to Numark and independent pharmacies throughout the UK. The leaflets are also available to order through www.leaflets2u.com, an online library, which enables practice managers to refill their waiting rooms with our leaflets free of charge. The public information materials continue to be promoted to our registrants through a flyer which is included in the registration renewal certificates and the materials are available at all of our events. We plan a further revision in March to incorporate the private sector hearing aid dispensers and a further distribution to gp surgeries and pharmacies in April 2010.

In this quarter we have also commissioned research which will inform the work we undertake with referrers. GfK Healthcare has been commissioned to undertake research in two phases. The first phase will identify who our "referrers" are (ie GPs, practice nurses or others) and to what extent members of the public are being referred to NHS or private sector health professionals. The second part of the research will test awareness of the HPC with this key group, identify key messages and optimum ways to reach these professionals. We anticipate the research will be used to inform our communications work in the 2010-11 communications workplan.

The Press and Public Relations Manager has continued to manage the older people campaign, google ad word campaign and yellow pages advertising as well as exploring the possibility of a profession specific campaign to raise awareness, similar to the joint British Dietetic Association campaign. A full report on the older people campaign will be submitted for the February 2010 communications committee.

In addition to this work, we have been developing a registrant logo for use by our registrants to demonstrate their registration status. This piece of work has been informed by research undertaken on our behalf by Ipsos MORI which addressed the value and usability of such a logo with members of the public and our registrants. This feedback has informed the development of the logo which is now in the final design stage. Guidance for the use of the logo is currently being developed along with terms and conditions of usage and it is likely that the logo will be available for use in spring 2010.

Resource implications

Activities in this report are set out in the 2009-10 communications workplan.

Financial implications

Activities set out in this paper are accounted for within the 2009-10 communications budget.
